raising standards worldwide™

Take your business across borders with Perinorm

---

You can access the world's largest database of national, European and international standards with Perinorm – sourcing all you need to know from over 200 standards bodies across 23 countries in more than 1.4 million records.

Find international equivalents quickly and easily

Using the correct local standards is important when exporting or working in foreign countries. And these standards are often the simplest way to meet legal and safety requirements as well as customer expectations.

But finding them is easy with Perinorm. You can access what you need in seconds, searching by keyword, country, publication date and more across 40 fields in each record. And buying is just as simple – add the standards to your basket and check out.

Be confident you're using the most current edition

Perinorm is updated directly every month from each standards publisher. And every withdrawn standard is marked in the search results so you won't use an old edition by mistake.
